The Condition of Trade.

The New York Times, in noticing the remarks of Western journal, that "the entire Northwest is overrun by drummers for Eastern houses, whose only desire seems to be to get orders and fill them, regardless of the ability of those who order to pay their bills at maturity," remarks, that "twelve months ago a similar warning came from the South. Eastern houses that sought opportunity for expansion sold freely on credit, and a very large proportion of the goods remain unpaid for to this day. Weak traders suffer in consequence, to this day. Weak traders suffer in consequence, and other inconveniences are aggravated by the unpromising aspect of Southern indebtedness." It cautions against crediting the West any more than the South, alleging that reports from the West prove the necessity of extreme caution, and quotes the Chicago Tribune as a witness. That paper says: "From every quarter there is but one sponse—'dull.' In the country business is very low. The interior dealers are selling little; the slow. The interior dealers are selling little; the farmers are not paying up, and in numerous parts of the country we hear of failures. Merchants in arrears and unable to pay are making assignments and in some instances fraudulent transfers of property have been made."

On which the Times remarks: "What more ominous state of things could we have? The farmors not settling their store accounts, the storekeepers selling little and paying something near to nothing, are the incipient symptoms of the trickery and fraud which in the West presage the coming of tight times. Surely these are circumstances pending future Constitutional Amendments, until formally restored, and in the meantime three-fourths of the represented States are competent to amend the Constitution; which was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

The Bill suspending the further cancelling or retiring of legal tenders during the ensuing two years was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means. The presence in our cities of a large amount of unemployed, or only partially employed labor, must tell upon general business as certainly as it reveals stagnation in certain branches of industry. Turn which way you will, then, facts exist which establish the paramount importance of avoiding risky ventures, and refusing absolutely to extend the credit

The New York Journal of Commerce remarks:
"The market is less reassured than was expected, and advices from the interior are less favorable than anticipated. The West has not sold its products as largely as usual, or at as satisfactory prices, and country merchants are making very poor returns upon the credits granted them, while many who bought for cash have a large portion of their stock on hand unsold."

After a further survey of the field that paper oncludes thus: "It was perfectly natural for Western farmers and dealers to look for such prices for their produce as would offset, in some measure, the enormous advance in all other goods. They were told that the protective tariff would give them such an equivalent, and some of them believed it. In the end they must be undeceived; and we shall not be surprised if this season should bring them to that oitter experience.'

Well, we have a continue to reject false offers and shall always continue to reject false offers, and repel everything that is contrary to the principles of justice, to the good of the Church, and the dignity of the Holy Sec. Such is a summary of the allocution delivered with great vivacity by the Holy Father. SAFEGUARD FOR STREET RAILROAD CARS .- An important invention for the protection of life and limb against the frequent accidents that occur from street railroad cars, was tested in Philadelphia on Friday. With a view of demonstrating the entire security which the "safeguard" affords, the inventor, Mr. Thomas Gillen, at different places and at different times, threw himself in mediately under the forward whoel of the car protected by h' guard, and was in every instance tected by h' guard, and was in every instance pushed aside from the track without being hurt in any way.

His safeguard appeared to be entirely successful, but a curious circumstance connected with his experiments was that a number of persons who makes the same of persons who was that a number of persons who was the same of the experiments was that a number of persons who witnessed them, seeing him throwing himself under the wheels of a moving ear, thought he was crazy and trying to commit suicide. The day was very unfavorable to properly test the Niagara's qualities for throwing water, as the wind was blowing very strong; yet she (or it) threw a stream through a 1½ inch nozzle a distance of 185 feet; had there been no wind blowing, the distance would have been much greater. The day, as we have said, was very unfavorable, and we think another trial should be given the machine before a verylicit is rendered. before a verdict is rendered.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon last, about five o'clock, Captain Luke Christie was engaged in oversceing the hauling of some lumber across two scows, lying on the opposite side of the river. Taking a handspike for the purpose of prying a log off, he slipped, and one of his legs catching between two of the logs, he was precipitated into the river. He swam ashore, when it was found that he had broken his ankle and sustained a compound fracture of the leg, making necessary the amputation of the limb at the knee-joint, which was performed by Drs. King, Schlev and Scherzer.

The Coming Senator from Pennsylvania. The New York World publishes a letter written in August, 1865, in which Mr. Kelly, Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania, skotches something of the life and public services of his brother Republican, SIMON CAMERON, whom the him to the Senate over both of them, by six or eight to one. We give a few extracts: I was but a youth when I first heard the name of Simon Cameron, and it was as the perpetrator of a great crime. He had been made the agent of the Government to carry a large amount of money due them to the Winnebago Indians, and had taken advantage of their ignorance and helplessness to onrich himself. Those of you who had then attained manhood, though you may not, after the lapse of so many years, revive the burning indignation with which you regarded the infamous swindler of the poor Indians, will doubtless remember that, instead of paying them the specie which the Government confided to him for that purpose, he retained it and gave them the notes of the Middletown Bank, of which he was an owner. At their encampment in the remoie wilderness, these notes were utterly wort less. The Indian could not use them for any purpose there, nor carry them to Middletown for redemption. But what was that to Simon Cameron? Was not their loss his gain and was he not so week the redemption. his gain, and was he not so much the richer by every note that failed to come home for redemp-tion, though they did suffer and starve? And those of you who are not old enough to remember all this now know why this bold bad man is sometimes spoken of by your seniors as the "Great Win-nebago," and sometimes as "Old Kickapoo."

For more than thirty years I have watched the tortuous career of this man, and have never seen reason to abandon my first impression of his charter trust without turning it to his profit, or handing the fund over to his creatures, to be used on joint account. How sadly these hopes were disappointed is attested by the brevity of his term of office, and the circustances under which it closed. In less than one year from the day on which Simon Cameron was installed as Secretary of War, Congress, though at that early day it had before it but partial evidence of his crimes, indignantly drove him from that high office. Two-thirds of the members of the lower House were friends of the Administration, and would gladly have suctained each member of it as they did its distinguished head.

Mining in Upper Georgia.

There is great activity in the mining interest of northern and northeastern Georgia. A writer in the Journal and Messenger refers to a number of quartz veins opened near Ackworth, on the State road. One is owned by Dr. Hamilton, another by Major Latimer, of Macon. Besides these are the "Paine," 'Grantham," "Baldwin," and "Cox" mines, all within four miles of Ackworth. In Cherokee county several mines have been opened by O'Neil, Foster & Co., and one by Brolly & Cowby O'Neil, Foster & Co., and one by Brolly & Cow-an, on which nuggets weighing two ounces have been found. Near this is the "Bell mine," and several others of promise, opened by Major Gold-smith. All these are within seven miles of Ac-

The Athons Watchman refers to rich discoveries in White and Lumpkin counties. Dahlonega is crowded with miners, and every night presents very much the appearance of a mining town in California. The Yahooka mining company are preparing, with great energy, to wash down a mountain close by, which promises fine results.

Work is going on at a number of other points. One of the most extensive is at Naucocchee, in White county, on lands of Mr. Richardson and others, leased by the "Naucocchee Hydraulic Company." They have brought water eight miles, and with heavy hose pipes are washing down the high hill called Hanby Mountain at several points, with very encouraging success. This is a Boston company, under Mr. Dean, who came to White from the mines in North Carolina several years before the war, and found the largest nugget of pure gold over seen in the State, weighing 387 dwts, and war, and found the largest largest paths over seen in the State, weighing 387 dwts., and another over half a pound. One miner put into his hands nearly two pounds of gold which he had procured at one washing! Is there anything in alifornia or Australia much richer than this? Of JOSEPH L. ENSLOW, Esq., who departed this life November 21st, 1866, in the 76th year of his age.

Death has been aptly etyled the "King of Terrors," and when he comes to the hardened heart he is a most dreadful sovereign. The straining eyes, the ghastly look, the clammy brow, the clutched hands, the wild, agonizing gaze of the wrecked and ruined soul, are evidences of hopeless misery and forerunners of that "deathless death," whose burning thirst shall know no quenching. But to the aged saint, who can say to the Recording Angel,

"I pray thee then Write me as one Who loved his fellow-men,"

Who loved his fellow-men,"
and who, tortured with pain and excruciating agony, Death's summons are but the portals through which to pass into an endless glory—thus died, without a groan or beloved Grandfather. A peaceful smile upon his face, a tear of ecstatic joy upon his furrowed check, a look breathing blessings upon all mankind, and the last struggle is over, the fight is fought, the last victory over life's temptations gained; and with the frosts and snows of many winters settled upon that dear old head, he's consigned to that rest where the wicked cease from troubling, and where suffering cannot reach.

"EXCELSIOR" SPRING WATER.

THE WATER OF THIS SPRING IS BELIEVED TO be unequalled by that of any other in the far-famed valley of Saratoga. Its virtues are such as have secured it the high encomiums of all who have used it, possessing, as it does, in an eminent degree, cathartic, diuretic, alterative and tonic qualities.

From SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M. D., Professor Practice of Physic, Jefferson Medical College, Philaalterative and tonic qualifies.

From SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M. D., Professor Practice of Physic, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, formerly of Charleston, S. C.:

Fintance of Physic, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, formerly of Charleston, S. C.:

I have been for a year or more past in the habit of taking the water of the "Excelsior" Spring of Saratoga. Accustomed during the great portion of my invalid life to use the different waters of the several fountains which boil up along that remarkable valley, dependent, indeed, upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am satisfied that the Excelsior Water is as well adapted as any other arnong them, if not more so, to the purposes for watch they are generally employed. It is very agreeable, strongly impregnated with the carbonic acid, lively and sparkling. * * * I can heartily and conscientiously recommend it to all who need a gentic cathartic and diurctic. SAMUEL HENRY DICKSON, M. D.

The Water is put up in Pint and Quart bottles, and packed in good order for shipping, Pints in boxes of four dozon each, and Quarts in boxes of two dozen each. All orders addressed to A. R.
